Why Christ Centered, Classical-education?

“Classical Education produced Archimedes, St. Paul, St. Patrick and Columba, Dante, Leonardo Da Vinci, Galileo, Sir Isaac Newton, Christopher Columbus, Shakespeare, and our own great George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and John Adams. These giants of their times are only the tip of the iceberg of the great philosophers, scientists, theologians, writers and artists that lived and worked through the 18th century. They lived up to their potential, and each in their own way impacted the course of human history, because their potential was unlocked in part by Classical Education, which prepared them to grapple with the problems of their day.”

-Otto Willmann, The Seven Liberal Arts
